Can a subsidization system take Ukraine out of energy poverty? However, experts believe that the existing subsidization system is incapable of taking them out of energy poverty. Ukraine is not the only country in the world where citizens receive monetary assistance to pay for housing maintenance and utility services. Can a decentralised electricity system empower Ukraine? Hence, in context of the report Empowering Ukraine Through a Decentralised Electricity System, a pioneering, detailed and bottom-up approach was developed to create a new high-resolution dataset of capacity and generation potential for Ukraine. Are distributed energy resources a solution to Ukraine's power deficit? Since Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in February, nearly two-thirds of Ukraine's dispatchable power capacity has been occupied, damaged, or destroyed. The report highlights distributed energy resources (DERs) as a vital solution to address their power deficit while enhancing Ukraine's energy security, resilience, and flexibility. What is Ukraine's energy roadmap? A roadmap for Ukraine's increased use of distributed energy resources towards This roadmap from the IEA, Empowering Ukraine through a Decentralised Energy System, outlines a pathway to rebuild and modernise Ukraine's power sector amid ongoing attacks on its energy infrastructure. How can Ukraine build a more resilient and modern power system? The roadmap also lays out seven key policy recommendations for Ukraine to build a more resilient and modern power system by establishing a vision for decentralisation and by strengthening regulatory frameworks, coordination mechanisms, electricity markets and relevant technical requirements. Can Ders help Ukraine's power system recover? IEA analysis shows that a diverse mix of DERs offers a cost-effective and resilient path for Ukraine's power system recovery. Urgent actions include deploying small gas turbines and DERs such as solar PV and batteries to address a projected 6 GW winter power deficit in /.
